Is Netter on ballot?

When James Netter of Wayne filed his petitions for city councilman, the Ohio birth certificate that he submitted as his proof of citizenship was not accepted, and, consequently, his petitions were not accepted.

After appealing to the Michigan Department of State Information and Voter Registration Division, a June 24 letter was sent to City Clerk Doris Nall from Bradley Wittman, director of the state Information and Voter Registration Division, confirming that the document (Ohio birth certificate) "appears to meet the requirements of the referenced statute" and recommended that it be accepted by the office of the Wayne City Clerk.

As of Wednesday morning, the clerk's office reported that there was no change in the status of Netter's candidacy, but a meeting of the Elections Commission is slated at 3 p.m. Friday.

Tax bills to be late

The Romulus summer tax bills will be arriving late to city residents homes and businesses, Treasurer James Napiorkowski revealed.

Citing office computer problems, Napiorkowski said, the bills should be arriving about one week late.

Queen to be chosen

At 6 p.m. Friday, six contestants will vie for the title of Miss Westland Festival of 1997.

The event will be staged at the Westland Mall.

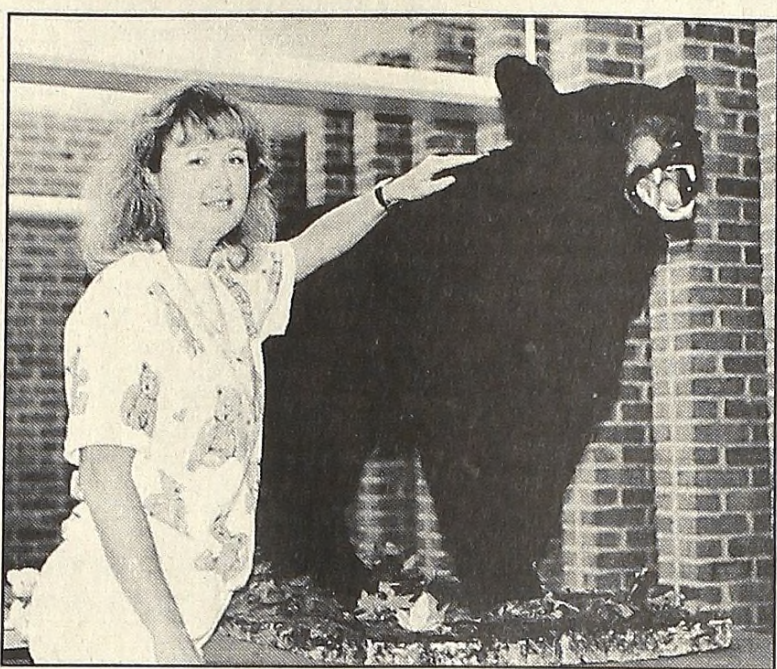

Sumpter plans Fest

The annual Sumpter Fest is scheduled from July 2 through 6.

Events will be staged at and around the Sumpter Community Center, across from the Sumpter Township Hall.

Public to be heard

The Wayne Downtown Development Authority will conduct a public hearing at 7 p.m. July 9 in the Wayne City Council chambers to gather input about the continuation of the Streetscape Project.

Bear facts

Romulus Children's Librarian Shelly DeLano welcomes a 350-pound black bear to the Romulus Public Library for the summer reading program. The bear display was donated by avid hunter Robert Wood Jr., who downed the bear with a bow and arrow in October 1991. Scores of other much smaller manufactured stuffed bears also are displayed about the library in preparation for the summer "Bears, Bears, Bears" reading effort. MCN photo by Lori Gillespie

Basham: limit DEQ retirees' job selections

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Two days after being sworn in as the new 22nd State District Representative Raymond Basham (D-Taylor) sponsored an amendment that would block state Department of Environmental Quality retirees from working for companies the DEQ regulated until at least three years after they left state office.

The amendment was added to the pending annual DEQ budget request bill.

"It is not fair to taxpayers or competing corporations when a former employee, with lingering friendships or contacts in the DEQ, accepts employment with a regulated business," Basham said.

Basham's action was spawned by Environmental Disposal Systems recent hiring of former DEQ geologist Thomas Segall as a consultant.

"The people were hurt because they had no way to defend themselves against an insider's knowledge. My amendment gives us the security we were missing," Basham added.

Basham was sworn in on June 18 and took over his Lansing office only hours after he successfully won his special election battle with Republican Rick Butkowski.

Basham, a 51-year-old Ford Motor Co. employee, easily defeated his opponent in Romulus and Taylor (combined) by a total of 2,460 to 661 votes.

House Speaker Curtis Hertel (D-Detroit) officially welcomed Basham by saying "Ray's strong showing while running in part on our (the Democratic Party's) 90 day agenda show that voters agree with our message of cutting taxes for working families, improving education quality and keeping our neighborhoods safe."

Six hundred and 42 voters turned out in Romulus last Tuesday with Basham gaining 510 votes (or 79 percent) to Butkowski's 129 votes.

Two write-in votes were recorded in Romulus and one voter's ballot was disallowed, since it contained votes for both candidates.

Butkowski was blanked only in the eighth district, where Basham scored 22 votes. Four precincts showed only one vote for Butkowski, while Basham picked up nine to 26 votes in the various precincts.

The Romulus absentee ballots showed 70 votes for Butkowski and 231 for Basham.

7 city firefighters sent to the hospital

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Seven Romulus firefighters were hospitalized briefly last Saturday and Sunday after a "hot load" of smoldering plastic was dumped into the City Environmental facilities at Inkster and Van Born roads in Romulus.

Fire Chief David Allison said the call came in at 5:30 p.m. Saturday as dense smoke filled the area for hours, making it difficult for firefighters to clear the area.

Six of the firemen fell victim to smoke inhalation and had to be treated at nearby Ann Arbor Hospital. One fireman suffered a back injury, Allison said.

Firefighters worked until about 7:30 the next morning clearing the "hot load" out with front end loaders and then dousing the smoldering debris with heavy supplies of water.

Approximately 30 firefighters from all four of the city's fire stations responded to the fire, Allison said.

Allison said the fire did little damage to the City Environmental facilities.

Outlet mall Groundbreaking plan is still more than a year away here

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The image of Romulus' current construction efforts on the Vining road interchange is being used by Tanger Factory Outlet Center marketers to enlist potential national and regional chains to open local facilities here in coming years.

Steven Tanger, president and chief operating officer of the outlet center firm, announced the marketing effort Monday night before the Romulus City Council.

But Tanger's 10 minute talk that lacked any firm dates for construction plans frustrated Councilman William Crova, who asked "is that all there is to your presentation? I'm disappointed. I expected more since you (and your management team from North Carolina) took time to visit us. I find little substantial information in your talk before us."

Tanger, appearing mildly shocked by Crova's comments, said Tanger Co. had little to market in Romulus prior to the beginning of construction of the interchange. "Before that the planned interchange was only a line drawn on a local map," Tanger added.

Most of Tanger's talk before the council was a list of historical information about the Tanger family involvement in outlet centers across the U.S. and their "proud partnerships" with cities they are located in.

Crova's comments obviously were spawned by the long delays in having any private construction done in the last 10-15 years on the well publicized Metro World dream for the city.

The city has spent millions of dollars in more than a decade to upgrade the infrastructure of the Metro World area properties. The lack of private developments became a major campaign issue in both the races for mayor and council in 1995 and will undoubtedly become one again this year.

Surprisingly Councilwoman Mary Collins sounded the most positive note for the Tanger effort saying "I'm going to feel that you are here to stay and I'm glad to see the Romulus name on various pieces of your brochures."

"I'm going to remain optimistic that bulldozers, etc. will be on hand soon," Collins added.

Tanger added in his statements that at this time his outlet mall plan calls for full use of about 136 acres on both sides of the interchange. Without making a commitment, Tanger said he hoped to see a groundbreaking for the effort sometime in the next year or so (well after this November's election).

The Romulus site has been shown in hundreds of meetings across the nation and we "thank you for having the patience" in not asking for the names of key tenants at this time, Tanger said.

Tanger plans to include a number of factory outlet stores, a string of modern movie theatres and top line restaurants in the local mall.

Currently Tanger has outlets in West Branch, Mich., Branson, Mo., Lancaster, Penn. and Manchester, Vt. among other locations.

Tanger said one other reason his management team came to Romulus was "to get to know you (the council members)."

In two unrelated items, Mayor William Oakley revealed that plans are being made to attack the area's worsening gypsy moth problems next spring and a horse auction is being planned for July 10 to sell the five Arabian horses taken from a Romulus farm early this year.

On the gypsy moth issue, Oakley said he will be meeting with a county extension expert within the next week to plan next year's efforts. "It is too late to do anything this year," Oakley said.

On the horse auction matter, the mayor said the city has received the needed papers to sell the confiscated horses that have been treated at a local horse farm operated by Fred Hay.

The auction is slated to be held at 5 p.m. at the Willowtree Stables on Merriman road in Romulus.

Parade, fireworks slated

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Final touches are now being put on plans for next week's Fourth of July Hometown Celebration that will include a festive parade, free animal shows (see related story), athletic competitions and a fireworks spectacular.

The holiday activities will begin a day early (July 3) with three hours of animal shows outside the Romulus Animal Shelter on Goddard Road, followed hours later (6 p.m.) by the city's annual parade.

The parade will begin at 6 p.m. at City Hall and travel along a revised route since Goddard road is being repaved this summer.

The parade group will cross Wayne road at Bibbins, travel one block to Gabriel where it will turn left for one block, turn right on Rosewood and again on Whitehorn and then travel back to Bibbins.

The parade units will proceed all the way to Olive and then turn left to the old Junior High School property.

On July 4 the day's events will begin at 9 a.m. with a Patriotic Praise and Prayer program at Elmer Johnson Park under the direction of Pastor Brad Lewis of the Community United Methodist Church.

A live band "Faces of Adam" will perform at the praise program.

Other clergy participants include Chad Moore, youth pastor of the Bell Road Tabernacle Church; Steve Adams, new pastor of the Romulus Wesleyan Church and the Rev. Bill Bingham of the Romulus Church of God.

A pancake breakfast will then be offered by the Romulus Kiwanis Club from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in a tent adjacent to religious service in Elmer Johnson Park. Tickets for the breakfast cost $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children ages 5 and above. The menu consists of all you can eat pancakes with side orders of orange juice, coffee and sausage.

At 10 a.m. a men's softball tournament will begin and continue through 8 p.m.

Both a holiday community wide picnic and two-hour series of children's games will start at noon.

One of the annual fun activities, the Romulus Fire Department's Waterball contest, will splash off at 2 p.m. and is expected to climax three hours later. At this point it appears three fire department teams will compete in the competition.

Other Friday activities include a homerun derby starting at 1:30 p.m. and a free music and karaoke events that will include Willie Hester encouraging local residents to flaunt their singing talents for the community listening part of the event.

The festivities will climax with a fireworks spectacular at 10 p.m. A rain-out date has been planned if necessary for 10 p.m. Sunday July 6th.

Free animal show slated for July 3rd

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Area pet lovers are being offered three hours of animal fun activities on July 3, featuring a variety of dogs, monkeys, reptiles, birds and ferrets.

Animal Control Officer Kim Matthews revealed the free holiday program will begin outside the animal shelter on Goddard road (just off Wayne road) at 12:30 p.m.

The Michigan group "Paws with a Cause" will kick off the day's events with a half-hour trained service dogs event.

At 1 p.m. Tom Hoffman and his black lab "Lady" from "Top Flight Kennels" will follow with a half-hour obedience and retrieving skill show.

Mark Rosenthal is returning following last year's successful

Animal Magic Show and once again will offer an hour of animal magic acts featuring a monkey, birds and reptiles beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Matthews said a ferret fun match will then begin at 2:30 p.m. under the direction of Debbie Miller and observers will be asked to cheer and vote for the winning ferret entries.

The afternoon's funfest will conclude with a K-9 search program offered by U.S. Customs officials that will begin at 3 p.m.

Matthews added that persons coming to the animal show will be given free discount food coupons that can be used that day at the Burger King Restaurant located across the street from the animal shelter.

Insurance companies note limo dangers

By TONY BRUSCATO
MCN Special Writer

Insurance companies are scrutinizing all of the Detroit Red Wings, and one of the first to feel the pinch is ACS Limousine in Wayne.

ACS owner Henry Berry has confirmed for the Eagle that its insurance carrier, St. Paul Insurance, will drop the limo company's coverage within 30 days.

"Yes, this is a direct result of the Red Wing accident," said Berry. "Our premium was due and they decided to drop us. We only had only $4,000 in claims, however it was the frequency of accidents that hurt us."

Berry says the insurance company was displeased with four accident claims, which he says were hitting light poles and a mailbox. The accidents were caused by two drivers, one whom is still driving for the company.

"However, since the Red Wings incident the insurance industry has become less tolerant of accidents," notes Berry. "I believe a lot of insurance companies will be getting out of the delivery (limousine) business. However, I don't believe we'll have any problem finding another company to insure us."

Berry says while claims totaled $4,000, his premium for the company was $98,000, and doesn't feel he has abused the system.

Meanwhile, it won't be until July 7 before Gambino Limousine driver Richard Gnida will be charged for the accident which has left two Red Wings in comas.

"Birmingham police have referred blood samples to a second lab for additional testing," said Jason Pernick, acting chief of the Oakland County warrants division. "We wanted to test for all intoxicants and the Michigan State Police lab couldn't provide that."

Pernick tells the Eagle that Birmingham police are talking with Wayne police officials about Gnida's driving tickets in Wayne and whether or not Gambino officials knew Gnida was driving with a suspended license.

"We've heard Wayne police advised Mr. Gambino of the problem, but proving he actually was told could be the sticking point," said Pernick. "In any case, the charge against Gambino would only be a misdemeanor."

A spokesman for the limousine service said the company didn't know Gnida was driving with a revoked license.

Gnida was arrested twice driving Gambino's limousines in Wayne, and twice the car was impounded. Both times Wayne police say the company was notified.

Wayne Police Sergeant Tom Miller recalls recording Gnida going 20 miles per hour over the speed limit and running a stop sign before being stopped at Annapolis and Wayne.

Gnida was also drunk, nearly twice the legal limit for blood alcohol level. The second time Gnida was caught driving on a suspended license.

Pernick says Gnida could be charged with driving with a suspended license, second offense, a misdemeanor which carries up to one year in jail and a $500 fine if convicted. A charge of felonious driving is a two-year felony. And if any liquor or drugs are found in blood tests he could be charged with operating the limousine while under the influence, which is punishable up to five years in prison and up to $5000 in fines.

Meanwhile, player Vladimir Konstantinov and massage therapist Sergei Mnatsakanov remain in comas at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. Injured player Slava Fetisov was released over the weekend.

Celebration

Jack Demmer (left) and his sons, Jim and Bill, celebrated the 40th anniversary of the Jack Demmer Ford dealership last week. The trio posed with a 1958 Edsel and brought other four-decades-old Ford vehicles to their dealership lot on Michigan Avenue and Newburgh Road for the gala celebration. Of course, the Demmers have an ample supply of new Ford cars and trucks on display.

70 years old Historic theater seats 'up for adoption'

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

The Wayne Historic Theatre Restoration Group wants to let residents know they can be a part of history by adopting a seat at the Historic Wayne Theatre located on Michigan Avenue just west of Wayne Road.

For $250 donors will have their name engraved on a brass nameplate and attached to a seat on completion of restoration.

Elaine Welch, secretary of the Wayne Theatre Restoration Group, said, "We appreciate any help we can get."

The Downtown Development Authority is doing nothing, she said.

This adopt-a-seat program was created by the Restoration Group to help raise money for renovations. The group organized in 1987 when they saved the theater from the wrecking ball.

"It's been crawling ever since," Welch said.

She submitted a "History of the Wayne Theatre" that she would like to share with readers.

This is the story of a theater that once was the talk of Western Wayne County. Today, it's all but forgotten. The final chapter, however, is yet to be written.

If a group of concerned citizens are successful, the story will tell of a theater that literally returned from the grave to live again with laughter and applause.

Back in 1926, when most of the area was rural farmland, when Michigan Avenue was the main highway between Detroit and Chicago and when the village of Wayne was the hub of activity, local businessmen built a theater and hotel complex. It included five stores along Michigan Avenue and a bowling alley in the basement.

The Wayne Theatre, by all accounts, was one of the most beautiful ever built in a small town. It seated 850 (625 on the main floor, 225 in the balcony) and featured excellent acoustics, a full orchestra pit and a fly-space for stage curtains.

Ads called it "The Pride of Wayne." They promised the latest in photo-plays (that's what they called movies in those days) and the best in vaudeville on Saturday and Sunday.

Opening night was Saturday, Aug. 27, 1927. Newspaper articles tell of patrons lined up for more than a block when the doors opened at 6:30 p.m. a standing-room-only audience saw Marion Davies in Tillie the Toiler, and an Our Gang comedy, Yale vs. Harvard, a Paramount News short, and five vaudeville acts. The shows were a hit. Soon, it was the most popular theater around.

The Woodward Theatre Company, headed by Henry S. Koppin, operated the theater. Koppin managed 26 theaters in Michigan that were popularly known in the Midwest as the Koppin Vaudeville Circuit. Many big acts toured Detroit, such as Al Jolson and Fred Astaire, who also played Wayne.

Special radio nights included a broadcast of the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney fight. And radio station WWJ regularly presented The Oklahoma Cowboys live from the stage.

But, alas, the stock market crash of 1929 caused Koppin to close his chain of theaters. A few months later, Walter Shafer reopened the Wayne Theatre and operated it with his sons, Charles and Martin, as a movie house until 1951, when it was closed. The Shafer's had recently opened the larger, more modern State theater down the street. As with the vaudeville that was once so popular, the Wayne Theatre soon became but a fond memory.

To donate to the adopt-a-seat program send a check or money order to: The Palace Theater Company, 35164 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich 48184. For more information call 728-SHOW.

Show biz! Belleville dancer realizes dream

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Kalin was anxious. She was having trouble sleeping, because of a recurring nightmare.

"I kept dreaming that somehow I would miss the call," she said. "Either I was at the mall, or just not in the house when the phone rang."

Kalin, a resident of Belleville, got out of bed and stared at the telephone, willing it to ring. Although the call she was waiting for was to come between 9 and 10 a.m., Kalin was up and waiting at 7 a.m.

To keep her mind occupied, she decided to call her mother. But, before she reached the phone, it rang.

"I knew what it was," she said. "Nobody calls here that early. I answered it, and, even though it was so early, I let out the biggest scream!"

Shay Scott, coordinator for Automotion, the Detroit Pistons dance team, was on the other end of the line, letting Kalin know she made the squad.

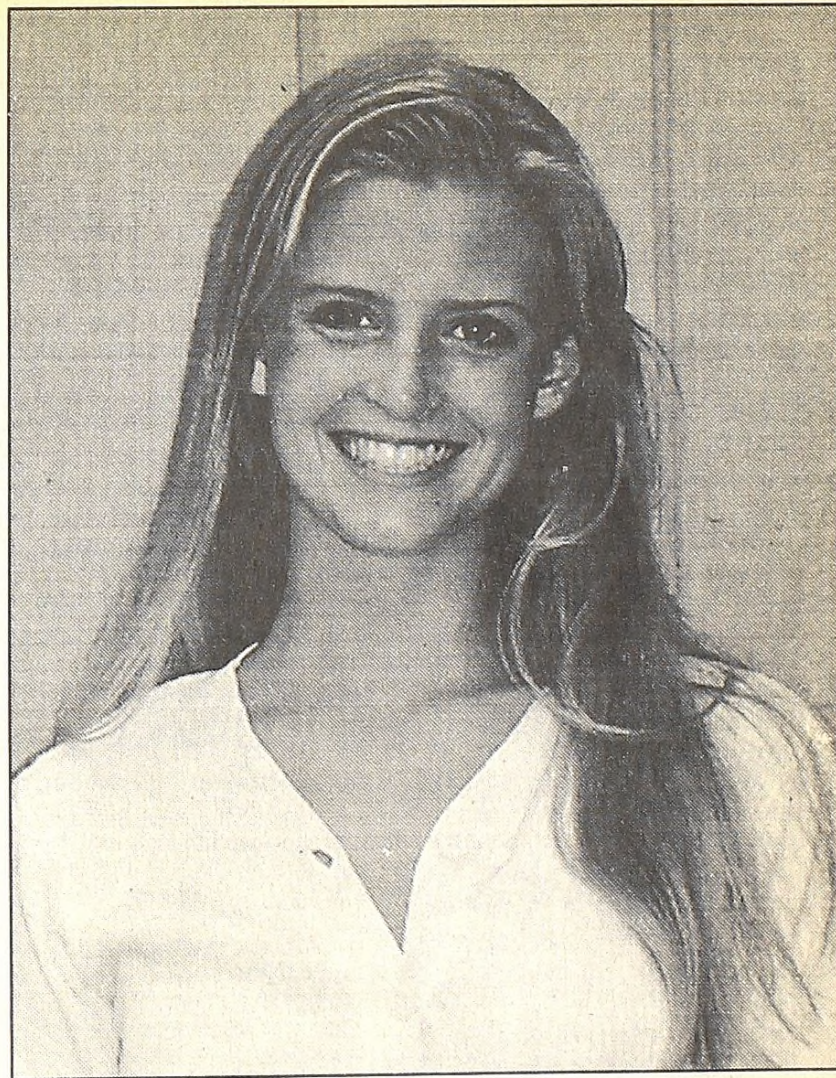

A teacher at P & P Dance Studio, Kalin wasn't even going to try out until a friend, who was headed to the audition, invited her to go along.

Approximately 200 women auditioned for the squad, only 17 were chosen after three days of try-outs.

"The first day was like cheer leading," Kalin explained. "I was never a cheerleader, and the audition was really hard. I was glad I made it through it. The second day we were interviewed, and we danced on the third day, which came easy to me."

Kalin has been studying dance for 14 years, and has been competing since she was 10 years old. Her main focus of study has been on tap, jazz, and ballet, with some gymnastics. She has been a dance instructor at P & P for the past two years, and hopes to continue if her schedule with Automotion allows enough time.

Just recently, Kalin auditioned for Disney and the Rockettes. She made it to the final cut with Disney. "It was disappointing to make it to the last cut, and then not make it," she said. "I got a letter in the mail saying they didn't need me."

Making the Automotion team took some of the sting out of that, however.

"My husband jokes around. He says he thinks I'm going to run off with a basketball player," she said. "He's proud of me though. He keeps telling his friends that I made the team. I knew I wanted to do this all my life. I wanted to be able to tell my grandkids that I was more than a teacher, that I was also a performer. And now I can."

Automotion is only in its second year of existence. The squad performs during half-time at the Piston games, keeping the crowd pumped up. They also make appearances at charity functions. A week after making the squad, Kalin made her first appearance in Royal Oak, where the dance team was signing autographs.

Kalin said the people at P &

P Dance Studio are behind her 100 percent in this endeavor. Since the audition took up every night she was scheduled to teach, the substitute explained to the students and parents what Kalin was doing. She said that many of the parents called her to find out if she made the squad. All said they were very happy for her, as long as she will still be a teacher next year.

After hanging up with the squad coordinator, Kalin called her mom.

"She was so excited," she explained. "I don't know if she was crying or not, but her voice was pretty shaky. She's happy that she put me through the dance classes and now she can see some results. I've won plenty of awards and championships, but this is something entirely different."

Editor's note: Kalin asked that her last name not be used to protect the privacy of her family.

Senior Center is Wayne's latest jewel

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

On Sunday June 8, the entire city council and many of Wayne's senior citizens were invited to the dedication ceremony of the new Senior Activity Center.

Mayor Warfield said, "This is one of our great jewels for the city of Wayne. We've been creating quite a jewelry box the past few years."

He commended the people who worked so hard to see the opening of this facility.

"There's a great team that put this together," Warfield said.

Audrey Tucker, Senior Services Director said, "We are so proud of this community and this building."

"Thanks to our city leaders for having the courage to dream and the tenacity to make things come about. This is indeed a jewel in our crown," she said.

State Representative Thomas Kelly presented

Audrey Tucker

Tucker with a joint resolution from him and Senator Loren Bennett honoring this day and this opening.

"This is a special personal pleasure for me," he said.

It was 40 years ago this year that the village of Wayne and Nankin Township dedicated this building to be a library. There were two previous renovations of the building. It was the third renovation that turned the library into the Senior Activity Center.

Valedictorian presents speech

The strength of family ties was the central theme of the graduation speech given at the Romulus High School commencement ceremonies by 1997 Class Valedictorian Yolanda Buffington.

Following a general welcome and congratulations to the fellow members of her graduating class, Buffington states: "You have made it to the point in your life that some only get to dream about. But let's not forget that we didn't make it here alone.

"It is because of the parents in the stands who struggled hard with you on your homework in those wee hours of the morning (I know of two in particular).

"It's those grandparents who told you all those old stories, that actually came in handy sometimes.

"Those aunts, uncles and cousins who drilled you with flash cards or made you learn something through those summer months.

"Not only did they do all

those things, but they bought you a state of the art school with every technical wonder you could think of. They are the ones who brought you here today and I think that they deserve a round of applause.

"Let's not forget our other family that has helped us along the way...the administration, teachers and staff at Romulus High School. They helped us advance and achieve in high school and I think they also deserve a round of applause."

After reciting a poem Caged Bird written by Maya Angelou, Buffington asked "Can you picture that free bird flying high, carefree and satisfied? Gliding easily through the clouds, with an air of self-fulfillment hanging like a halo. But you know, I don't have to imagine this scene or ponder it. Because I see the bird with his optimistic, aggressive, carefree attitude. I see them right now, they sit in front of me, they are the graduating class of 1997 of Romulus High School.

"I see a flock of young birds that have been let out of that cage today. They have made it to the point in their lives where they can now move on to their own lives. I see this flock has a variety of birds: cardinals, blue jays, robins and eagles that exhibit positive goal-making, dream-catching attitudes.

"Now I know we were once cast in a dim light, the worst class to reach Romulus High School. But I beg to differ. We have great musicians, talented actresses, marvelous speakers, award-winning writers and a host of students, who are already preparing to be wonderful doctors, lawyers and accountants.

"I am not here to preach. But you are a bird that is free to soar, strive and claim the sky. You are not a caged bird that is a dismal failure and filled with an eternity of longing. You have goals set for yourself. Wasn't one of them to graduate from high school, so that's one down and many more to go.

"Over the years we may not have gotten along all the time. But you should look past those differences and see what I see...namely a flock of intelligent, talented, caring, opportunistic, positive, carefree young men and women, who are strong and will succeed.

"I am proud to graduate with such a special group of people. Congratulations class of 1997 and fly high.

Romulus graduate speaks

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The following memories and advice was offered to the Romulus High School Class of 1997 by its salutatorian Tiffany Kerekes at the graduation ceremonies conducted inside the school's athletic complex.

"As I was preparing for my speech, I came across a poem by DeAngelis, that reflects the visions of today:

Yesterday is history,
Tomorrow is a mystery.
Today is a gift
That's why we call it the present.

In our yesterdays we have overcome many obstacles at major turning points in our lives.

(1)With the closing of a couple of the elementary schools, we were all faced with the consolidation process.

(2)As we approached eighth grade, the remodeling of the Junior High forced us to commute to Wayne County Community College our first semester and then return to the newly refurbished school to complete the school year.

(3)As high school came upon us, again, construction interfered. Because of these four walls, our anxiety of starting high school was prolonged two additional weeks due to the completion of the renovations.

(4)The hardest obstacle to overcome was the passing of fellow classmates. One person in particular was Earl Keyser. He was someone not many of us got to know, but he will always be remembered.

The future, tomorrow, is a mystery and we are all unsure of what it will hold. However the path that we take to get there, will be different for each of us. For many, we will be going to college. For others, we will be entering the work force. But whatever path you have chosen, because of our unique experiences together, we will succeed.

Our first step to success is today, our commencement, which means new beginning. With any new beginning comes fear. A little fear is healthy because you cannot always anticipate every consequence of every action, but we are able to overcome many of our fears with the help of our family, friends and classmates. That is why today is a gift, because we are sharing this special day with you.

Tiffany Kerekes

Police Reports

Van Buren's Public Safety Department handled a variety of calls during the week of June 3 through 9.

Officers responded to a stolen vehicle in progress at the Southport Apartment complex at 3:16 a.m. June 4. A similar report was made at 3:57 a.m. on Green Meadows.

An assault and battery was reported in the 41000 block of Belleridge at 12:37 a.m. June 5.

A domestic dispute escalated, and an arrest was made for a felonious assault at 8:51 p.m. on Ryznar Drive.

Officers assisted the fire department at 3:50 a.m. June 6 in the Van Buren Estates, as a two-year old was having seizures.

Between 11 p.m. June 7, and 12 p.m. June 8, officers responded to nine complaints of loud noise in different areas of the township.

Officers responded to an odd call from the Burger King on Belleville Road. The complaint: a man running around the restaurant in women's underwear.

A 16-year-old male was struck by a vehicle driven by a 13-year-old female at the Fellows Creek Apartments in Canton.

The pair were traveling side by side on a road in the complex when the bicycle was struck. At one point the cyclist was trapped under the vehicle and dragged a short distance.

The victim was transported to Annapolis Hospital by Canton Rescue and later airlifted to U-M Hospital.

An investigation is being conducted by Canton police.

Van Buren Police responded to a variety of calls during the week of June 17 through 22.

Three people were arrested for retail fraud at 1:35 p.m. at the Meijer store on June 18.

A child was seriously injured after being hit by a van on Fret Road, as he ran into the road to stop the ice cream truck shortly before 5 p.m. June 19. The child was taken to the University of Michigan

Hospital, but no further information was available at press time.

Officers responded to complaints from residents on Morton Taylor Road and Van Born Road, when it was discovered that items had been stolen from their garages on June 17.

At 5:17 p.m., a resident in the area alerted police to kids smoking marijuana in Capital Hills Park.

A woman and her male friend were shot by the woman's former lover last Saturday in Inkster.

The woman was critically wounded and the man, Robert Lee Sowell, was dead on arrival at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

Gregory Ambrose Forbes was arrested and charged with homicide and attempted murder.

Thieves stole boat engines from Westland Marine on Middlebelt.

A total of $5,400 in inboard/outboard motors and four outboards worth $1,000 were taken.

There are no suspects, according to Westland police.

A burglar who broke into a Westland home left a package of cigarettes, but apparently did not take anything.

On June 24, undercover Wayne County Sheriff's deputies and teenage decoys focused on Ecorse looking for businesses that sell tobacco to underage consumers.

Deputies are enforcing a state law that prohibits the sale of tobacco in all its forms, including cigarettes, cigars and chewing tobacco to anyone under 18.

The drive, called Operation Nic Net, is sponsored by the Wayne County Health Department, City of Detroit Health Department and Michigan Department of Community Health. Those who are monitored and refused to sell tobacco products to underage consumers receive a sign saying "You refused to sell nicotine products to youths! Thank you for being a responsible member of the community and obeying the law," and is signed by Robert A. Ficano, Wayne County sheriff. The sign can be displayed in the store.

Golf outing adds Red Wings touch

When the Allied Florists Association of Metro Detroit hosts its first golf outing on July 21, there'll be a lot of happy campers and Red Wing fans - literally.

The outing at Burning Tree Golf and Country Club will benefit the Society of St. Vincent de Paul Summer Camps for Boys and Girls. The Society has operated the camps for needy children, ages 8 to 12, since 1922 and have served more than 98,000 youngsters.

Red Wings fans can also indulge in their favorite pastime -- collecting team memorabilia. An auction, hosted by WNIC, will include four Red Wing jerseys, signed by Steve Yzerman, Brendan Shanahan, Sergei Fedorov and Vladimir Konstantinov.

The cost for the golf and dinner is $150, or dinner only is $50.

For more information or to co-sponsor or play golf, contact Betty Harran, Allied Florists Association at (248) 689-6095 or Ron Gaines at (810) 777-0820.

County selects developers for Northville property

Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara today announced that the County has selected developers who will purchase and develop 926-acres of County-owned land in Northville Township.

"We have world-class development teams in place that will transform this property into a superior, mixed-use development that will be a tremendous asset for all of Wayne County," McNamara said.

He added that the County expects revenue from land sales to total $38,155,680 million, with the value of the overall development at build-out projected to be over $1 billion. When completed, the project will contribute $2.85 million in annual property tax revenue to the Township, $4 million to the County, and approximately $7 million to Northville schools.

All numbers are subject to a final survey.

The centerpiece development will be a luxurious golf course community featuring an Arnold Palmer-designed championship golf course. The development team is headed by Toll Brothers, Inc., the nation's leading builder of luxury homes.

The Toll/Biltmore team will pay $18,483,000 cash for 303 acres of land that is zoned for single-family residential. In addition, it will invest approximately $9 million to have the Arnold Palmer Group design and build an 18-hole golf course and at least a 12,000 square-foot clubhouse

Madonna's Learning Center accepting applications

The Learning Center at Madonna University in Livonia is currently accepting applications for its fall term, which begins Sept. 15. Applications should be completed as soon as possible to allow time for an assessment of each student.

The tutorial sessions are designed for children from the first through 12th grades who are experiencing difficulty in reading and its related skills. Individual or group instruction is available.

Prior to admission, each student will be informally assessed, and a tailored remedial plan will be designed. Instruction is designed to enable the student to be a more successful and independent learner and will include strategies for reading fiction and non-fiction text, processing writing and study skills. Students will develop a portfolio of their work during the session.

Classes run from Sept. 15 through Dec. 4. Parents may choose the day and time that best fits their needs: Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday from 4 to 5 p.m. or 5 to 6 p.m.; or Thursday from either 3:55 to 5 p.m. or 4:55 to 6 p.m. The extra five minutes added to the Thursday classes are to make up for Thanksgiving when there will be no class.

With more than 45 years of providing services to children who are experiencing difficulty in reading and writing, Madonna University's Learning Center has assisted thousands of children, from public and private schools representing some 20 different school districts.

Since enrollment is limited, it is important that applications be submitted as early as possible.

For more information, call (313) 432-5586, or Sr. M. Duane, (313) 432- 5585. Madonna University, celebrating 50 years of academic excellence, is located in Livonia at I-96 and Levan Road.

Romulus junior presents research

Albion College junior Loretta L. Rozdoske of Romulus recently presented an original research project at the college's 10th annual Michigan Undergraduate Psychology Research Conference.

Rozdoske presented her papers on "Jealousy as a Result of Various Extradynamic Relationships."

Albion Professor David Hogberg said the opportunity to present both oral and poster presentations at a conference "makes the work more real to the students. There's a big difference between turning in a paper and having peers from other institutions evaluate what you've done."

Elections: too many, too close

It seems ironic that in the midst of an exhausting cluster of three Romulus elections in less than a month, Secretary of State Candice Miller faxes out a press release stating that future local elections could be consolidated to only four dates throughout the year.

Those recommended future election times would be in February, May, August and November.

Tired city clerk and election day workers in Romulus and Taylor chuckled when they heard about the Miller release, hours after completing their third and final election in a month (May 20, June 9 and June 17).

Many wondered why one of the special elections for the 22nd State Representative post couldn't have been "consolidated" with the school board races on June 9.

Such a consolidation could have saved Romulus city government $8,000 to $10,000 in election day costs and Taylor even more. Such a consolidation also could have cut much of the confusion for local voters.

As it turned out last week less than 30 voters turned out per precinct in Romulus to decide who would be its new state representative.

While the three elections, including two within one week, at first appear to be in violation of the state's own rules, it was revealed that there are no restrictions on special elections called by the governor.

It was Gov. John Engler, who called the two special elections (for state representative) before and after the regular school board elections.

According to Miller's latest information cycle, the recommended reforms follow 12 months of deliberations by the Elections Advisory Committee and the requests are being presented to the Michigan Legislature for quick action.

In addition to consolidating elections to four fixed dates, the committee is urging that absentee ballot restrictions be eliminated, partisan and non-partisan candidates be given an opportunity to file a non-refundable fee rather than a petition with voters' names, except for races for governor, U.S. Senator, U.S. Representative or Court of Appeals judges.

Most of the recommendations were offered to reduce election costs, ballot printing errors and to facilitate voter instruction programs.

We would tell Miller if she wants to add power to the committee's persuasion effort, they should call Romulus and Taylor city clerk officials to testify. Their memories of this past month's over load are still fresh in their minds.

But since the current state's election laws were in practicality flaunted here in the past six weeks, we cannot say with any guarantee that "cluster elections" will never happen again!

Political expediency seems at times to outweigh common sense or even governmental regulations.

It wasn't too surprising to see the State Board of Education expel God from their mission statement last week, despite pleas by hundreds into the early morning hours not to do so.

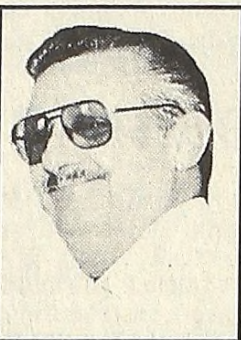

In the post-1960s era secular world only four letter words are supreme. God falls one letter short in their thesaurus.

Two years ago this writer speculated that within 20 years unborn babies (abortionists call them fetuses) would probably be granted legal counsel. The column item drew a lot of chuckles from abortion backers.

However, recently it was reported that judgment date may be a lot nearer than speculated as a New Jersey judge has ruled that "the unborn child requires representation."

Discrimination challenged

To the editor:

As state lawmakers, we have a sworn responsibility under the Michigan Constitution to ensure equal protection and opportunity for all Michigan residents.

Documents obtained from the University of Michigan prove that the university is favoring less qualified minority students over nonminority students, regardless of need, when determining admissions, grants and scholarships.

For example, records show that of recent undergraduate applicants who were in the same grade point, between 2.8 and 2.99 (B-), SAT scores, between 1100-1390, and ACT scores, between 27-32, only 12 percent of nonminorities were accepted while 100 percent of the minorities gained admission.

The U of M's discriminatory policies must be challenged in court. We are seeking parents and students who may have been victims of minority preference programs at the University of Michigan who would be willing to participate in a class-action lawsuit. There may be remedies for students who were denied a scholarship, grant or admission due to minority preferences. Our multi-front probe into the University of Michigan's minority preferences includes legislation, budget amendments and possibly a subpoena to force the University to completely disclose their minority preference practices.

We urge parents and students to contact us at the addresses and phone numbers listed below to bring an end to this victimization of hard-working parents and their children. Michigan students should not have admission, scholarship and job opportunities stolen by less-qualified students.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said, "I have a dream that some day my children will be judged by the content of their charter and not the color of their skin." How sad that the University of Michigan is still judging students by the color of their skin, not their individual achievements.

Concerned parents and students can write to us at the State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48909, or at the numbers listed below.

Is God dead or what?

To the editor:
God is Dead! Or, maybe not. On the other hand...ah, forget it.

The defeat of chess grand master, Garry Kasparov, by the IBM super-computer, "Deep Blue," has shaken the world. Philosophers and theologians will be endlessly debating the significance of this event for years to come.

What is intelligence? Does intelligence imply consciousness? What good is chess?

Deep Blue is capable of reviewing over 200 million possible choices in a single second! This is far beyond human capabilities—as anyone who has stood in line at a donut shop knows. Why, for example, does it always take the guy ahead of you ten minutes to pick out a dozen donuts.

Or, what about the lady at McDonald's who spends five minutes reviewing the "menu" before placing an order. I mean, what planet did she just arrive from?

The German philosopher, Ludwig Wittgenstein, wrote several books exploring the nature of human intelligence. Wittgenstein felt that ordinary language itself defined and limited the scope of human intelligence.

To Wittgenstein, language was a game, sort of like chess. All games have rules. Know the rules of the "language game" and you

Moving Wall shifts emotions into high gear

I was 4 years old when the Vietnam War ended in 1975.

I have no memories of the last years of the war, nor could I tell you where I was when the United States announced that the troops were being pulled out of Vietnam.

None of my relatives fought in the war. My father, who served in the Army, was stationed in Germany from 1963 to 1966. He was on a waiting list to be sent to Vietnam, but was never called.

Most of what I know about the war came from history classes. Unfortunately, I was not much of a history buff. While the subject was interesting, I only retained the bulk of the information long enough to pass the test.

Despite this, seeing the Moving Wall is something I will never forget. The 58,202 who lost their lives fighting in the war now have names, it's more than just a number found in a history book.

When I visited the mobile memorial, I met some veterans of the war, and watched as they scanned the wall, seeking the names of their friends and fellow soldiers.

Jerry Stone, of Ypsilanti, said he knew a lot of the men whose names are listed on the memorial. He saw two units wiped out in one attack, and was now searching for their names on the Moving Wall. Stone's tour of duty, from 1967 to 1970, was served with the 173rd Airborne, which was the most highly decorated unit in the Vietnam War.

Rick Utley, of Wayne, also served with the 173rd Airborne. He was in Vietnam from 1965 to 1971. He said he had mixed emotions when he saw the Moving Wall. "I'm sad that I lost friends, but I'm glad they are being remembered," he said.

As Vietnam veteran LeRoy Paige, who was greatly responsible for bringing the Wall to Belleville, read the poem, Reflections on the Wall, a chill ran up my spine as I looked at all the names on the wall.

"Their names are there on the Wall. All our hopes are there on the Wall. All our dreams are there on the Wall. Somebody's brother is there on the Wall. Somebody's lover is there on the Wall. A crying mother is there at the Wall. A praying father is there at the Wall. All their names are there on the Wall."

The Moving Wall is appropriately named. Not only is it mobile, but it is "moving" indeed.

Editor's note: The Moving Wall, a scaled-down replica of the Vietnam Memorial, was displayed at the Belleville High School athletic field through Tuesday. Then it left for another destination as it traveled across the country.

Personality Profile

'Class clown' makes acting her career

By SHARON POPEK
MCN Special Writer

Sandra Birch grew up in Wayne with an older sister and younger brother. Being the middle child, she found it got attention when she made others laugh. Upon graduation from Franklin Junior High, she was selected as "class clown." Grading from Wayne Memorial three years later, guess what? "Class clown," again!

Sandy studied theater at Central Michigan University. Her father almost passed out when a report card came home with an "A" in make-up.

Currently, she's appearing in Sylvia, which is billed as a "rollicking comedy about a man, his wife and his dog." Sandy plays the wife who is a school teacher. The play is at the new Alley Theatre, located

"Acting is fulfilling, demanding and difficult, but it's all I've ever wanted to do."

- Sandra Birch

in the famous Trappers Alley in Greektown. It's on the third floor and Sandy said Greektown has to be the safest spot in Detroit -- with a police officer in front of every building.

People who eat in any restaurant in Trappers Alley and bring their receipt to the theater can buy their play ticket for half price. Opening night is June 26 and the curtain rises at 8 p.m. on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays with Sunday matinees.

Sandy just finished appearing in Hot-L Baltimore at the Purple Rose Theater in Chelsea. It was directed by Jeff Daniels, who kept encouraging her to "stretch and develop a different level of ability in a difficult role." She received excellent reviews and is very proud of that role. During the last week of Hot-L Baltimore, she was rehearsing each afternoon for this production. On the drive to Chelsea, she would completely switch personalities.

"Acting is fulfilling, demanding and difficult, but it's all I've ever wanted to do," explained Sandy. "Comedy is more difficult to do, but it comes naturally to me. Every comedy has huge poignant scenes or moments. Timing is something which can't be taught. You're born with it!"

While serving as an apprentice at Star Theater in Flint, she taught a summer workshop at Michigan State where she met her husband, Randy Birch. He was with Arete, a professional mime company from Canada. She and Randy were married on stage at the Detroit Institute of Arts and she moved to Canada. She loved the beautiful scenery, the safety of the cities and the friendly people, so she remained in Canada quite a few years.

She has worked at Expo '86 in Vancouver, the Olympic Arts Festival in Calgary and at the prestigious National Art Centre in Ottawa. She has also performed in Regina, Edmonton and Toronto. She and Eddie Mekka of Laverne and Shirley, have had extended runs with a two-person play, It Had to be You.

Sandy's Siberian husky, Tonya Musushka, travels with her and "has been in more hotels than most of my friends." Since returning to the states, Sandy has appeared at the Attic and the Purple Rose Theatres as well as commercial tours.

"Every rehearsal at the Purple Rose is like taking a master class," she said.

She's also working with Adrienne Klemme on teaching

There's a shelf full of trophies at the home of Sandy's mother, which were won by Sandy and her sister, Susie, when WMHS, under Klemme's direction, was the state champion for several years.

Sandy's already encouraging "the drama gene" in her niece, Jordan Lynne Boeve, 5, of Plymouth.

Wittgenstein's books are very hard to read. And, most people don't actually read them. Rather, they just leave them laying around the house to impress their friends.

Wittgenstein wrote a single paragraph once that was so obscure that it was said only three people in the world understood what he meant. This proves that Wittgenstein was a genius. Or, possibly a graduate of the Wayne-Westland School District.

But, is human intelligence based solely on language? Japanese Zen masters have rejected language entirely as the basis for human intelligence.

The Zen master will give the student a nonsense sentence to "study." For example—What is the sound of one hand clapping? Then, after a while, the master will sneak up behind the student and smack him up side of the head as hard as he can. At this point, the student achieves "enlightenment," and a ringing in the ear that takes a long time to go away.

So, if God is dead and Wittgenstein is dead, is Wittgenstein God—or, does Wittgenstein just need to be smacked up side of the head?

If God were a Boston creme donut, would He be "in" the donut, or would He actually "be" the donut. Of course, this tells us nothing about bagels, or why Starbucks refuses to open stores in the Detroit area.

On the other hand...

President answered

To the editor:
Bill Clinton opined last week that we not concern ourselves with reducing or eliminating the capital gains tax to balance the budget. He has concluded that the budget can be balanced without any adjustment to capital gains. But, Mr. President, the reduction in capital gains is sought to make capital available for investment, for expansion, for retooling, resulting in more jobs, increased production and more goods available for sale, and, oh, what's the use.

The same president recently called for a 10-year program to search for a cure for AIDS! But the AIDS dilemma is much different than the indiscriminate scourges of cancer and Alzheimer's disease.

We don't need to spend ten billion for education when the answer to disease and difficulty is abstinence.

Child found

To the editor:

Thank you for assisting the National Center for Lost and Exploited Children in the search for missing children. The distribution of missing children's photographs is an important step towards the recovery of these children. One in seven children is recovered as a result of someone recognizing the child's photo and alerting authorities.

Due to everyone's effort and support, the Center is pleased to inform you that Jamaica Rochester has been located.

Vote is important

To the editor:

Recent articles in both the Detroit and suburban newspapers have highlighted some of the challenges within the several school districts. These articles have examined the dismal academic results in both "rich" and "poor" districts. Blame has been variously ascribed to: 1) Classroom teachers; 2) Principals and Superintendents; 3) Michigan Education Association and other "unions" for public employees; 4) State Government; 5) lack of money; 6) poor maintenance of buildings; but I have yet to see the School Districts' Elected Officials properly called to task.

On June 9, 1997 (the second Monday of June is prescribed by law as school board election day) almost every school district in the State of Michigan will hold an election of school trustees. More tax dollars are expended by these trustees of "local" school government than are expended by any other "local" government. Furthermore, these trustees are responsible for insuring the proper education of the next generation, yet the number of citizens going to the polls is the smallest of all election processes.

Campaigning for School Board has been traditionally internal the "parent-teacher-child" community, often with the explicit desire for self-disenfranchisement of non-parents. The "educational bureaucracy" has for many generations taught "if you don't have children in school you have no need to vote in school elections." The Public Schools belong to all citizens of the community and every citizen has a patriotic obligation to vote in every election, especially school elections.

One of the many instruments
our doctors use
to make kids feel better.

For children, going to a doctor's office can be a little scary. That's why at Oakwood, we take the time to get to know them. To ask questions. And to listen. Then we do everything possible to get them feeling better again. We even make getting an appointment easy by guaranteeing same day or next weekday office visits. Oakwood. We believe caring is the best medicine.

Gold shines forever! Treasures of Atocha come to state

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Golden treasures from a Spanish galleon, which were recovered by Key West diver Mel Fisher and placed in his personal collection, will be displayed in the Metro Detroit area on July 24 through 27.

The exhibition will occupy the entire jewelry department at Service Merchandise in the Clinton Valley Mall, 44725 Schoenherr Road, Sterling Heights, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. July 24 to 26 and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 27. After the Detroit-area stop, the exhibition will continue on its 30-city tour.

The $40 million traveling exhibit includes historic museum artifacts from the Nuestra Senora de Atocha as well as a unique collection of museum-authorized renaissance jewelry. It is part of the greatest sunken treasure ever discovered, but only a fraction of the $600 million of Fisher's total find.

Many of the rare items are normally on display at the Fisher Museum in Key West Florida, a popular tourist attraction.

The Atocha, acclaimed to be the richest Spanish galleon ever to be recovered, carried the vast wealth of Spain's New World colonies from Havana, Cuba, to King Philip IV of Spain. The ship was sunk in September of 1622 in a fierce hurricane off the Florida Keys.

Over the centuries, thousands of treasure hunters searched in vain for the wreckage of the Atocha and its multi-million bounty of gold, silver and emeralds, but it was left for Mel Fisher, originally from Indiana, his wife, who hailed from Montana, and their crew to discover.

Mel Fisher had dreamed of finding sunken treasure in his youth, and made a diving helmet to use in local waters. After a stint with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in World War II, he settled in Torrance, Cal., where he operated a dive shop and sold scuba equipment. He married Dolores (Deo) Horton and they spent their honeymoon among the shipwrecks in Florida waters. They returned to California where in 1963 they met members of a salvage group from Florida and "with a handshake" made a 50-50 agreement with Kip Wagner of Sebastian, Florida to hunt for treasure in Florida. Some 360 days went by without success and then they struck it rich, discovering 1,033 gold coins in one day and a total of 2,700 gold coins in a week. Then, the Fishers turned their interest to the calmer waters of the Florida Keys and a search for the shipwrecks from a lost 1733 Spanish Fleet, including the Nuestra Senora de Atocha and the Santa Margarita.

According to 10,000 pages of Spanish documents researched by Fisher, the Atocha was loaded with a king's ransom of nearly 40 tons of gold and silver - 900 silver bars, 161 gold bars or discs and an estimated 255,000 silver pieces of eight plus gold chains, emeralds and diamonds.

After spending nearly 17 years searching more than 120,000 linear miles of ocean floor, the treasure was eventually found. During a dive, Mel's son, Dirk, had found five of the Atocha's bronze cannons while free diving. Seven days later, his boat, the Northwind, took on water during the night and capsized trapping Dirk, his wife, Angel, and diver Rick Gage within. The Fisher family pressed on with their quest, believing it is what the victims would have wanted.

Fisher's discovery was recounted in a National Geographic television special, a CBS made-for-TV movie and countless newspaper and magazine articles.

Among the thousands of artifacts and reproductions included in the exhibition are solid gold coins minted in Spain prior to 1622 and rare silver pieces of eight from the Santa Fe de Bogota mint that opened in 1621. Also featured are rare Atocha emeralds from Colombia's famous Muzo mine, the highly prized Bishop's Cross, made from solid gold and emeralds believed to have been intended as a gift for the Pope, a solid gold "Poison Cup" and currency chains made so each link of identical weight could be twisted off and used as money.

After conquering the ocean and perils of the deep, Fisher and his associates had to fight the State of Florida and the government of the U.S. to protect his right to the Atocha's treasure. However, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld his full ownership of the bounty.

If you miss seeing the treasures on tour, it will take a trip to Key West to see them later - not a bad idea, anyway!

Coles writes about single life

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

If you want some witty, tongue-in-cheek advice on the single life, television star Kim Coles has the answers in her new book, I'm Free But It'll Cost You.

Coles is currently starring in Living Single and is a former cast member of In Living Color. She also has been featured as a guest on numerous cable television comedy shows. This month, she is starring in her own one-woman off-Broadway play, Homework which she co-wrote with play director Charles Randolph-Wright.

Her humor plainly shows through in the book, and while her advice is primarily directed at black women, the book can be enjoyed by any single woman coping with the problems of dating.

Among her bits of humor, Coles tells us how to know if you're a needy woman:

- Me and My Shadow is your theme song
- Fatal Attraction is your favorite movie
- You have a special phone with only one pre-set number - his
- You sign all of your love letters S.O.S.

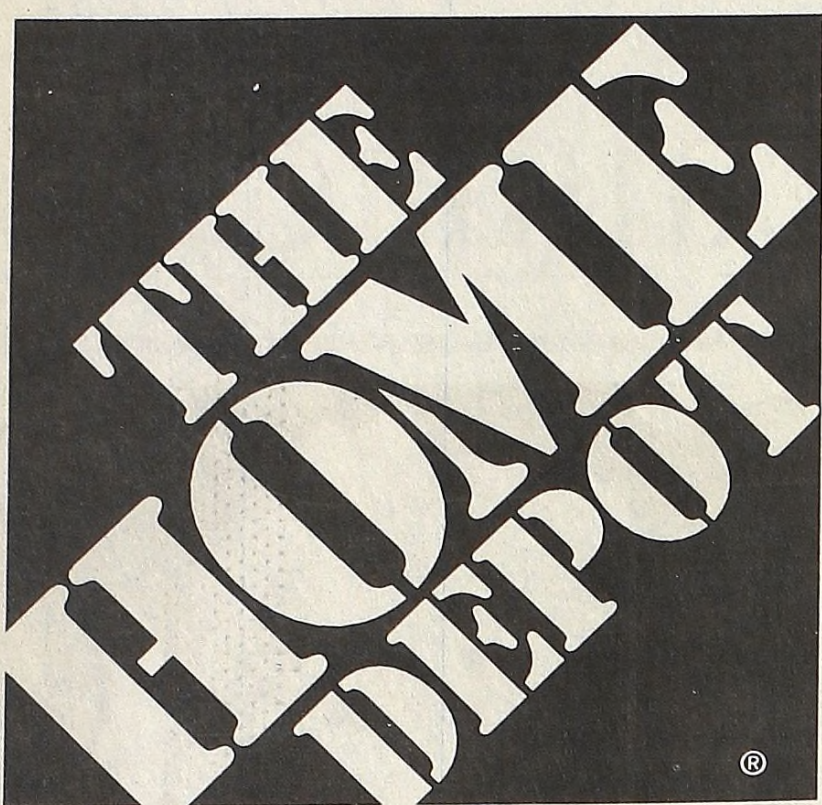

In addition she tells how to know if a brother (any man you're dating) is tight. Among the clues she provides are: He buys his groceries and clothes from the same store; he thinks cubic zirconia is a girl's best friend; instead of a wallet, he carries a piggy bank, and when he orders take-out, he calls Meals on Wheels.

Coles has an array of surveys, charts, worksheets and an all-purpose love letter all of which are aimed at finding the "man of your dreams, or more importantly, avoiding the man of your nightmares." Coles will make you laugh, make you think and, maybe, make you see the single life in a new way.

The book, published by Hyperion is available, at book stores for $18.95.

Senior advocate

Nel Thompson heads area agency

Being a senior advocate is second nature to Nel Thompson, executive director of The Senior Alliance Area Agency on Aging 1-C in Wayne.

As a child she grew up in North Dakota in a family which included her grandmother.

"My parents were hard-working people who always opened their doors to people in need," Thompson said. "There were always extra people invited to dinner, or helped in some other way."

All of her life, Thompson has worked for non-profit organizations.

When seeking a part-time position with one organization, she was told that the placement was filled but another agency in the same building was looking for someone. Thompson was hired on a full-time basis and worked for them for five years.

Thompson worked in financial positions for the Area Agency on Aging, and when a directorship post was open, she was asked to fill it.

"I had no designs on the job at that time," she said.

The office that she oversees, located at 3850 Second Street, Suite 160 in Wayne, serves the third largest senior population in the state.

She enjoys the part of her job that pairs up needy seniors with available services, and is frustrated when she hears that some seniors have "fallen through the cracks" in the system.

"We have a lot of services that enable senior citizens to continue to live in their home independently, many of which are available at no cost or a minimal cost," Thompson said.

"We try to publicize our services as widely as possible, but unfortunately there are still some seniors who are not aware of the programs that are available for them," Thompson said. "Many seniors are independent and are reluctant to ask for help, even if it is sorely needed. They are from a generation of individuals who lived through hardships and difficult economic times without asking for aid. For some, it is a blow to their pride to ask for help of any kind - these are the kinds of people who 'fall through the cracks,' and are the ones that we need to seek out to keep that from happening."

The Senior Alliance, established in 1980 as a nonprofit organization, is funded by the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging with funds from the Older Americans Act and Older Michiganians Act. Additional funds are obtained through private donations and local matches from communities.

"Any one 60 years of age or older, regardless of income or financial status is eligible for Senior Alliance programs. However, priority is given to those who are in the greatest economic or social need," Thompson said.

The program is also extended to those 55 and older who have low incomes, she said.

Among the services available are adult day care, case management, chore, elder abuse services, home delivered meals, homemaker, long-term care ombudsman, Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program, Michigan Emergency Pharmaceutical Program for Seniors (MEPPS), outreach and enrollment, personal care, respite care, Senior Alliance holiday meals, telephone reassurance, transportation and vision services.

Through the Homemaker & Personal Care program services such as meal preparation, house cleaning, laundry and shopping for necessities can be provided. Personal care to aid people with grooming, bathing, dressing and toileting needs is also provided.

"One of the programs that we would like more seniors to know about is the MEPPS. Seniors 65 and older can qualify for temporary assistance for the purchase of prescription drugs from this state-funded program," Thompson said. "The guidelines are that the monthly household income must be less than $968 for an individual or $1,295 for a married couple, and the prescription drug expenses must be at least 10 percent of the current net household income."

Thompson noted that individuals can apply for MEPPS assistance twice during the fiscal year, which runs from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30.

Assessments are done by The Senior Alliance to determine what services are appropriate for individuals.

Ask Betty

Dear Betty,
My husband is taking our son and daughter on a fishing trip this month and I'm sure that their good luck will leave me swamped.
What does one do with it all?
Shreveport, LA

Dear Betty,
At a recent dinner party, the host served roasted garlic spread on French bread. It was nothing like traditional garlic bread, and was indescribably delicious. How do I get garlic that spreadable?
Spokane, WA

If your anglers have you up to your gills in bass, you may want to consider freezing some of their catch for future use. Here's the best method I know that also helps prevent freezer burn; starting with cleaned, filleted fish, dip each piece quickly in ice cold water to form a glaze, then freeze, uncovered, in a single layer, 5 to 10 minutes. Repeat until a thick glaze forms on the fish; freeze until solid in a single layer on a tray. Then wrap, label and freeze so just the amount needed can be removed at one time. Keep lean fish such as bass, cod or red snapper in the freezer 4 to 6 months; fatty varieties like mackerel, salmon or lake trout for only 2 to 3 months. Store fresh fish in the refrigerator for no more than two days in plastic wrap or wax paper.

ROASTED GARLIC

1 to 4 bulbs garlic
1 teaspoon olive or vegetable oil for each bulb garlic
Salt and pepper
French bread slices, if desired

Heat oven to 350°. Carefully peel away paper skin around bulb, leaving just enough to hold garlic together. Trim top of garlic bulb about 1/2 inch to expose cloves. Place stem end down on 12-inch square of aluminum foil. Drizzle each bulb with oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Wrap securely in foil and place in pie plate or shallow baking pan. Bake 45 to 50 minutes or until garlic is very tender when pierced with toothpick or fork. Cool slightly. To serve, gently squeeze garlic out of cloves and spread on bread.

Robichaud students mentor Daly pupils

They are the best of friends – fourth-grader Jessica Massey and high school senior Rakeya Benton; 11th grader Tanta Thompson and third-grader Ashleigh Ayler, and senior Marryssa Jones and fourth-grader Josh Reed.

The pairs of students are some of the Big Brothers Big Sisters of Metropolitan Detroit combinations from Robichaud High School and Daly Elementary School in Inkster.

They are part of a new school-based mentoring program that is making a difference in the lives of many elementary and high school students by improving grades and building self-esteem. Participants in the program are primarily Robichaud High School students who volunteer

The demand for matching young students with mentors is growing as the number of students who struggle with academic, family or social pressure increases. More high school age volunteers as well as adult volunteers from local communities are needed to serve on a one-to-one basis as a mentor.

The goals of school-based mentoring programs include helping elementary through high school students cultivate good grades, positive self-esteem and healthy after-school activities. Help with homework, being introduced to community activities and resources or just having a friend to talk with about personal problems are all aspects of mentoring.

The Inkster program expands school-based mentoring to the Western Wayne area of Detroit and is similar to several other school programs in Detroit, Pontiac, Macomb, Harrison Township, Chesterfield and Grosse Pointe who already work as partners with Big Brothers Big Sisters to offer school-based mentoring.

To find out more information about the Inkster mentoring program or to volunteer your time as a mentor, call Renee Kish at (313) 274-7833.

Belleville man had many interests

Melvin E. Stromme, who died at the age of 80 on May 22, was born May 6, 1917, in Detroit, to Edward and Mary (Borland) Stromski. A tool and die maker all his life, he began his career as an apprentice with Ford Motor Company, working at the Rouge Plant, and at the Bomber Plant in Ypsilanti, making tools and dies to build the B-24 Liberator bomber.

He worked for Webb Forging Company in Belleville until he retired Nov. 3, 1978. He later moved to Florida, where he lived for 22 years before moving to Grass Valley, Calif. four years ago.

He enjoyed metal detecting, coin collecting, history of all kinds, but especially Michigan history and the history of the Detroit Tigers.

He is survived by his daughters, Cathy Horste of Belleville, and Christine (Ted) Kurtz of Grass Valley, his sister Barbara Ann (John) Staats of Melbourne, Fla., six grandchildren: Angelle Martha-Louise Horste, Elizabeth Kurtz Perriera, Kevin Kurtz, Doris Yates, Mel Kurtz, and Christina Kurtz, and nine great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his parents, one brother, Edward Stromski, and one sister, Charlotte Commerie.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

The Miracle of Life: Some Giveth and Some Taketh

Dear Mr. Ross: Our sister died a month ago. She had emphysema but wasn't doing too bad until last summer when her son beat her severely. She was left unconscious for 48 hours. This wasn't a one time thing—her adult son had been beating her for years. In fact she had 3 sons, 2 of whom beat her, but 1 moved to Florida 5 years ago. Our family begged her to admit it, but she wouldn't. She didn't want her son to go to jail. Instead, she would tell us that she had fallen.

When I saw her in intensive care it was an unbelievable sight. She had a lump the size of a grapefruit and was black and blue from head to toe. She was trying to suck baby food off a spoon. I will never forget that as long as I live. It was like having your heart ripped out.

We gave her the best funeral we could—no showing, no music, and it still cost $3,100. The day after her funeral the charges were dropped against her son because "there were no witnesses." Her last words before she lapsed into a coma were, "Please don't let those boys hit me again." Our request is for a nice monument for her grave. None of us can afford it after the funeral costs and it breaks our hearts to go to the cemetery and there is nothing there. We can purchase a nice one for about $500, and we thank you in advance for whatever your decision. P.S. This can all be verified through the Zanesville Police Dept.

Ms. J. P. ... The Dispatch, Columbus, OH

Dear Readers: For the first time in a long time, I feel a sense of outrage that I can't begin to explain. Let me give you a bird's eye view. There's a certain callousness that comes in reading my mail. After a while, I begin to believe I've heard it all. Then comes a letter of this nature.

Here's a mother who was literally beaten to death by her son; and in turn he is able to walk away with zero consequences. I tell you it's an outrage and I want justice. If there is an attorney out there who is willing to do some meaningful pro bono work, please contact me. I'm not sure what can be done, but to do nothing is the worst crime of all.

In the meantime, I'm honored to buy the grave site marker which will acknowledge the life of this woman—who at one time was a daughter, a sister and unfortunately, a mother. At least her final resting place is one of peace.

Dear Mr. Ross: I'm writing you because you are so wise and I figure that you really must be close to God. Could you please pray for me? My life is so empty. I'm not married and I want to share my life with somebody so badly. I teach children during the school year which is somewhat rewarding. Other than my students and my sister, I have no friends. My evenings, summers and weekends are endless.

I know that marriage won't solve all my problems, and I just don't want to be "married" for the sake of being married. I want to marry the one that God wants me to marry. That's why I'm asking you, and the people who work for you, and any others you show my letter to, to pray for me. I pray all the time but the more people who pray, the more effective your prayer is.

No Name ... The Paper, South Bend, IN

Dear Nameless: I don't know if it was such a good idea to print your letter for a potential 33,000,000 people to read. You see, there may be such a thing as an over abundance of prayer. And if that's the case, you're going into overdrive. You could end up with a surplus of gentlemen callers.

Quite honestly, I don't think you stand a good chance of finding a soul mate by simply praying for it. Get out there and circulate in your church group or other socially appropriate outlets. In other words, you're never going to find gold just by praying. You need to get out there and pan for it.

Write Percy Ross, P.O. Box 39000-B, Minneapolis, MN 55439. Include your phone number and the name of this publication. All letters are read. Only a few are answered in this column; others may be acknowledged privately.

Ever wanted to take the kids to an island and leave them?

OK. You don't have to answer that question.

We just want to let you know that you can, at Mackinac Island's Mission Point Resort.

In fact, that's why we developed our exclusive children's Discovery Club. So our guests with children can get away for a while and do things parents like to do. Be it a hike, a round of golf, a shopping excursion, historical tour or even (Yuck!) business meetings.

The Discovery Club is a safe, secure, fun and educational place, staffed with trained professionals day and evening alike. We even make pagers available to parents, for that extra margin of comfort.

So come to Mackinac Island, and leave the kids for some good, healthy fun at our Discovery Club. Then, when you're ready, pick them up and enjoy some real family fun as well!

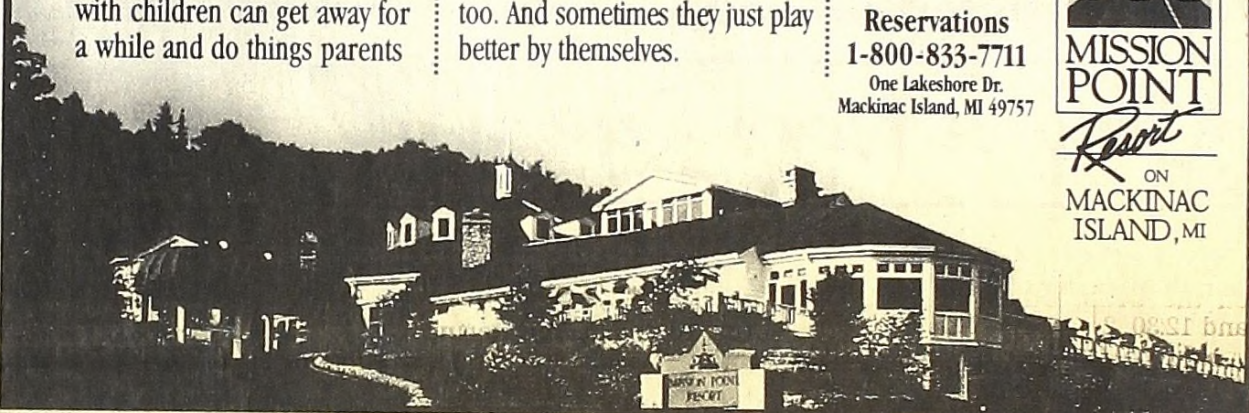

After all, parents need play time, too. And sometimes they just play better by themselves.

For family fun, Mission Point offers: Activity center with health club, in-line skate and mountain bike rentals, heated pool and more • 3 restaurants with outdoor dining and live entertainment • Over 100 miles of wooded nature trails • Historic sites that have made Mackinac Island famous

And remember: Children 12 and under eat free at Mission Point Resort!

Mega Conference expansion ushers in a new era for local teams

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The Mega Conference will begin a new era in the fall when five former members of the Suburban Athletic Conference will begin athletic competition in the expanded four divisions of the conference.

Teams will be assigned to one of four division-Red, White, Blue or Gold, according to their strengths.

The Mega recently accepted into its fold former members of SAC - Inkster and Robichaud, two schools with a large African-American student population. Their acceptance into the league ended lengthy litigation by the Westwood School District.

Westwood officials had charged racial discrimination and alleged violation of the Fifth Amendment, charges that the 27-members of the Mega Conference denied.

In a move to avert further litigation, the Mega opened its ranks to the SAC last July.

Ex-SAC affiliates, Inkster and Robichaud, dropped the lawsuit once they were informed that they would be accepted.

The Mega also has embraced such schools as Willow Run, Rouge, and Highland Park - former SAC members - along with South Central affiliate, Ypsilanti High.

All the newcomers will find accommodations in one of the conference's four divisions - Red, White, Blue and the newly-created Gold.

Most fans also may need a scorecard or a compass to locate their favorite teams.

"The job of realigning the teams in the four divisions is a laborious one," noted Bill Hawley, Wayne Memorial athletic director. "But it has been successfully completed. "It was challenging in that teams are assigned to divisions using several criteria.

"Some teams may not have been assigned to the top division (Red) because they felt their teams were not ready for the caliber of competition offered in that division. It has been a challenging process, and this fall the league will be a very interesting one to follow."

Hawley also was quick to point out that a story which appeared on these pages two weeks ago about a proposed merger between the Mega and Western Lakes was a figment of someone's very vivid imagination."

"I don't know how that rumor started, but whoever started the rumor should be writing fiction. If something of that magnitude should surface, believe me, there is no way that we could keep it away from the media."

In the meantime, conference officials released for publication the newly-aligned divisions for the 1997-98 school year. There are some surprises, such as Wayne Memo-

Romulus honors unbeaten coaches

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus Middle School boys' sports continued in their championship ways this past school year, Assistant Football Coach Tom Williams revealed, as they finished undefeated in individual games, league tournaments and invitational meets.

The 1996 football team headed by Coach Don Foley and his assistant Williams went undefeated in six games for the sixth time since 1985.

The coaches were aided by parent John Moomaw, who now has been appointed to a high school coaching job for 1997.

Williams said 65 students tried out and 52 finished the year with the undefeated team.

Later the school's basketball team followed with an 11-game undefeated season. Coach Troy Williams' teams have the unique record of only having lost one game in the three years he has been in charge. Almost 80 students tried out for the 15 basketball positions.

The Middle School's wrestling team won their division of the Mega League this year, with a 9 and 0 dual meet season.

Head Coach Bill Cuhran, who has been the wrestling coach since 1985 when the school became a 7th and 8th grade facility, also captured the Mega League 15-school tournament.

The team has never lost more than two dual meets in the same season since 1989.

Cuhran's assistant for 12 seasons has been Avern Logan, who has been promoted now to the high school's head coach position.

The new middle school assistant coach is Jason Davis.

The school's track team won seven dual meets and then placed first in the Mega League's White Division. In the championship series, Romulus faced three other undefeated teams and won out.

Head Coach Lawrence Thomas and assistant Avern Logan have teamed together for seven years.

The Middle School's track record is unbelievable as it has competed for the last 11 years without losing a dual meet. The last time they lost was in 1985, when they were

Mets rout Dodgers to win 1st Canton invitational title

For many 12-year-old ball players, there is nothing better than summertime and baseball and apple pie, unless, of course, it's bringing home a first-place baseball trophy after winning an invitational tournament.

For the Mets, that dream came true last week.

At the expense of the Dodgers.

The Mets, behind a solid defense and some timely hitting, coasted in the preliminary rounds and reached the championship game on Saturday where they found the Dodgers waiting.

In a hard-fought battle, the Mets survived, 11-7, to capture the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League's inaugural baseball invitational title.

The tournament is designed for players in the 11 and 12-year-old age bracket.

To get a shot at the Dodgers, the Mets disposed of the Northville Pirates 7-2 in the first round. They then clubbed the Cubs, 15-9, and, in the semifinals, jolted the Padres, 13-9. The victory was the ticket to the championship game.

The victory set up the showdown with the Mets.

In the meantime, in the other bracket, the Dodgers also were busy picking up their "W's."

In their bid for the title, the Dodgers cashed in on a 15-7 victory over the Athletics in the first-round, then narrowly escaped the White Sox, 10-9, before beating the Pirates in the semifinals, 13-9, to advance to the finals.

The victory set up the showdown with the Mets.

But the Mets just had too much defense for the title hopeful Dodgers.

Conference champ Canton places 6 on all-league

It is a "dream team" whose players had to distinguish themselves on the fields of reality in the Western Lakes Conference.

The 1997 Western Lakes mythical all-conference girls soccer teams were picked by the conference coaches.

And coaches liked what they saw in the lineups of Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth-Canton which dominated the 1997 divisional title races and eventually the all-conference team.

Canton placed six of its players, and Stevenson provided four in the lineup.

Canton, which posted an untainted 5-0 record in winning the Western Division title, lost to its arch-rival, Livonia Stevenson, also 5-0 in the Lakes Division, in the championship game.

Salem, was runner-up in the Lakes, boasting a 4-1 record, while Westland John Glenn, also a Lakes Division affiliate, finished with a 2-3 mark which earned the Rockets the fourth-

Westland John Glenn's Nicole Farrar was the Rockets' lone representative on the "dream team". Nicole was named as a forward to the Western Lakes All-Division Team. The Glenn senior will team up with Plymouth-Canton Melissa Marzoff and Churchill's Kersten Conlin, the two other forwards nominated.

The All-Division keepers are: Canton's Kristin Lukasik, Meghan Cauzillo (senior, Northville), Crystal Wright (junior, Livonia Churchill), Cristi Dikeou (senior, Walled Lake Western), and Jenny Barker (junior, Stevenson).

College-bound 2 prep stars sign their letters-of-intent

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Two outstanding scholar-athletes have decided on where they want to attend college and continue their athletic careers.

Richard Rashad, who earned varsity numerals in football and basketball at Wayne Memorial, and Plymouth-Salem's two-sport standout Angela Smith have made up their minds.

Rashad, 18, will attend Saginaw State Valley University on a basketball scholarship. The 6-4, 200-pound athlete helped coach Chuck Henry's Zebras win three successive Mega Conference Red Division titles and also make as many appearances in the "Sweet 16". Wayne has reached the Class A state semis for the past two years.

Rashad also was a split end and has earned three varsity stripes in that sport. In both basketball and football, the versatile athlete was named to All-Area teams in the sports.

The All-Area is selected by the Michigan Community Newspapers' sports staff in cooperation with the local high school coaches.

Smith also has signed a letter of intent to attend Siena Heights College and play volleyball and compete in track and field for the Saints.

Smith was a captain and outside hitter on the Rocks' volleyball team this year, and she also was a blue chip performer in both the shot put and the discus in track and field. She has competed at the AAU level in volleyball and played on a national qualifying team last season.

In track and field, Smith has been a two-time Class A state qualifier in both the shot and the discus as a sophomore and in her senior season.

"We're excited about Angela coming to Siena Heights College," said track and field coach Tim Bauer. "In the past few seasons, we have established ourselves as an NAIA power in both the men and women's throwing events, and Smith will be a solid prospect in the shot and discus for us."

Romulus sets dates for physicals

Sports physicals for Romulus students are now being planned for July 30 at the high school Adolescent Health Center, director Nancy George revealed last week.

George said the exams will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at a cost of $10 each. Consent forms can be obtained from team coaches or from the Health Center office.

No appointments are needed that day and the exams will be conducted on a first come, first served basis.

For those potential athletes, who cannot come that day, calls to the Health Center can help set up alternative dates.

Deadline nears

Sports officials need to register

If you plan to officiate high school games in the area during the 1997-78 school year, better register.

That is the word out of Lansing and from the Michigan High School Athletic Association, the august body that oversees prep sports in Michigan.

On or before July 1, the state's 10,000-plus game officials, who work 14 sports, are urged to submit their applications. The July date is an important one because it is the deadline for those who wish to be listed in the MHSAA's annual directory.

Here's Bill Bupp, MHSSA supervisor of officials, on that subject:

"We always encourage officials to register before July 1, so that they can be listed in the official directory. That is very beneficial for officials looking for work and schools looking for officials."

Bupp noted that officials listed in the directory are more visible candidates for approved association membership.

"Approved association benefits are numerous, so we encourage officials to either seek membership or be asked to join a local group well before the new school year begins."

While early registration is heavily encouraged, Bupp added that new officials are free to register with MHSAA anytime during the year. MHSAA registration fees are among the lowest in the nation. There is a $7 charge for each sport an official wishes to work. The processing fee is $15.

Officials registered in 1996-97 will be assessed a late fee of $20 for registration after the July 1 deadline. The processing fee includes liability insurance coverage of up to $1 million for officials while working MHSAA contests.

Also, the 1997-98 school year will be the sixth for the MHSAA's Legacy Program, which permits high school seniors to become registered officials with limited opportunities.

More information about the documentation process for registration as an official can be obtained by contacting the MHSAA at 1661 Ramblewood Drive, East Lansing, Mich. 48823. Telephone: 517-332-5046.

ville competed in the inaugural tournament.

"The objective of the round-robin tournament was to give those boys who wanted a chance to elevate their game and have some fun at the same time an opportunity to do so," said John Filios, PCJBL's AA League Director.

"No player was excluded from the field of competition, and each team also was guaranteed three games with two divisional winners playing for the championship," Filios added.

The lineup of the first-place Mets, who had players from the Tigers, is as follows: Brett Holcomb, Josh Staton, Troy Lafferty, Sean Lee, Justin Bulmer, Daryl South, David Dunlevy, Dan Lyons, Andy Valantas, Jon Craighead, Justin Bonkowski, Scott Herlihy and Joey Frayer.

The Dodgers, with an assortment of Royals, Orioles and Marlins, included Matthew Horvath, John Gwizdak, Nick Barker, Joseph Oliver, Matthew Poniatowski, Charles Kemp, Steven Cooper, Andy Diamond, Matthew Cole, Jeremy French, Brian Finnerty, Neil Kowalik and Matt Curd.

defeated by one point.

Since 1986 they have competed in 12 invitational meets and finished first in all of them.

Williams said "in addition to winning contests, we have a few other things to be proud of. The school requires athletes to maintain a 2.0 grade point average.

"In addition we often receive congratulations from other schools' coaches and administrators on how well our students conduct themselves at games and meets," Williams concluded.

Soccer camp

Ireland's best to coach in area

Some of Ireland's and England's top soccer players will be in the area next month to help conduct a "World Class" clinic.

The clinic, organized by Livonia-based Madonna University and World Class Soccer, will be staging Irish Summer Soccer Camps for boys as well as girls. The camps will be conducted from July 7 through Aug. 1, under the supervision of Madonna University head coach and USSF "B" licensed coach Peter Alexander.

During the practice sessions, players will have an opportunity to meet five international "footballers" from Ireland ranging from junior players to English Premier Division Professionals.

The professionals will teach camp participants how to be a complete soccer player, using proven European methods and coaching techniques.

Each participant will receive a free T-shirt and soccer ball.

Camp officials note that day and evening camps will be offered at a variety of times and locations. All day camps will cost $170, and will be conducted from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. The evening camps will cost $99 and are staged from 6 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

Camps will be staged for five days are offered from July 7-11; July 14-18; July 21-25 and July 28-Aug. 1.

For more information, call (313) 423-5607. Madonna University, which is celebrating its Golden Anniversary this year, is located in Livonia at 1-96 and Levan Road.

Top students win scholarships

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

The caps and gowns will soon be packed away, the graduation parties are over and the diplomas will be displayed on the wall. What's next for the class of '97? Many of them are off to college where they will experience dorm life, cumulative exams and the soaring expense of tuition. How will these students pay for college?

About 135 of the graduates from Wayne Memorial High School have won scholarships from community groups, colleges or the Armed Forces.

WMHS's class of '97 had six valedictorians, 2 salutatorians and 45 other students graduate with an honors diploma. They were recognized at commencements by their gold hoods, white tassels and either a silver, gold or white cord.

After spending their high school years together, the pursuit of higher education will take these students in all different directions this fall. Many will attend schools in the area like the University of Michigan, Eastern Michigan University, Wayne State University and Michigan State University.

But some will travel further. They will attend Arizona State, St. Mary's University in Minnesota and the U.S. Air Force Academy.

WMHS's valedictorians who are scholarships winners include:

- Charles Bailey, WMHS Alumni Association Scholarship; Wayne-Westland Education Association; U of M-Ann Arbor Regents Alumni Scholar; WXYZ Brightest and Best Award

- Eric Carpenter, The Wayne Lions Club Scholarship; Wayne-Westland Building Administration; Hope College Presidential Scholar; Michigan Technological University Scholarship

- Antoinette Gilbert, Ladies Literary Club Frances Blaine Hilt Scholarship
- Scott Palmer, WMHS Football Boosters Scholarship; The Janet Plevak Memorial Scholarship; Michigan Technological University Scholarship

Parents warned to keep kids away from Rouge River bacteria

With the onset of warm weather and longer daylight hours, Wayne County's Environmental and Public Health officials are cautioning parents to keep children from playing in the Rouge River because of bacterial contamination.

Intensive water quality monitoring will allow dry-weather canoeing from Newburgh Lake to Nankin Lake, and later this year, there may be paddle boating at Wilcox Lake. The Newburgh Lake Restoration Project, now underway, will help with water quality improvements.

"Construction of some combined sewer overflow controls has been completed on the Rouge River, and there will be even more progress later on this year," says Stephen R. Tackitt, Wayne County Environmental Health Director. "Wayne County is working to extend recreational boating options as water quality improves."

Donald Lawrenchuk, Wayne County's Medical Director, reminds parents that the risk of contracting disease is likely greater two to three days immediately following major rainstorms. While there is no documented evidence of people acquiring water borne illness through contact with these rivers, that probably exists.

The Wayne County Health Department is working to prevent water borne illnesses by extending its standing advisory against ingestion of contaminated water and playing, wading or swimming in the Rouge River.

Wayne looking for artists to exhibit

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

Are you an artist who is looking for a new and unique place to show your work? Do you think a beautiful park complete with trees, flowers and children playing would be an ideal setting to sell your work?

If so, then you should contact the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department. They will be hosting the first annual Art in the Park Exhibit from 5 p.m.-9 p.m. on July 24 at Goudy Park located behind city hall. As people stroll through the park enjoying nature and listening to the "Thursdays are Terrific" concert with the German band Dorf Musik Anten, they can also have the opportunity to view and purchase some artwork.

The exhibit takes place in conjunction with the annual Sidewalk Sales in downtown Wayne.

Tracy Spada, Wayne Parks and Recreation Arts and Entertainment Coordinator said they are looking for artists experienced in oils and acrylics, graphics, drawing, ceramics, glass, sculpture, watercolor, photography, jewelry, wood and clothing.

Each artist must submit an application form, 2-5 photos of their work and a $15 fee for a 10-by-10 lot space or $25 with electricity. All applications must be received by July 17, 1997.

Applicants can mail all inquiries to:
Wayne Parks & Recreation
Art in the Park Exhibit
4635 Howe Road
Wayne, Mich. 48184

Make checks payable to the City of Wayne. For more information contact Tracy Spada at 721-7400.

District works for collaborative change

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools continue to develop a process for collaborative change.

The central office administrators, building administrators, school board members and teachers met on June 16 at 9 am to discuss the formation of a 12-member work council comprised of members from participating groups:

National ring

Blazer blazes trails in sports-utility field

By KAREN STRONSKI
MCN Automotive Writer

Karen Stronski

I recently had the opportunity to test drive the 1997 Chevrolet Blazer. This Chevy puts the emphasis on fun. The award winning Blazer was designed from the inside out to be comfortable, roomy and safe. Then they added an exclusive driver control system to it's dependable, long-lasting Chevy truck chassis, to help you feel more secure in any driving situation.

Over the years, the Chevy Blazer has become renowned for its uncompromising strength and its extraordinary capabilities. The Blazer is built for serious work, and serious fun. There are lots of sport-utilities out there, but this one is the real thing.

The true achievement of the Blazer is not so much in combining the ride and comfort of a luxury sedan with the strength and capability of a Chevrolet Truck, but in combining them so gracefully and intelligently in a sport-utility that is uncommonly well suited to the way that you really drive.

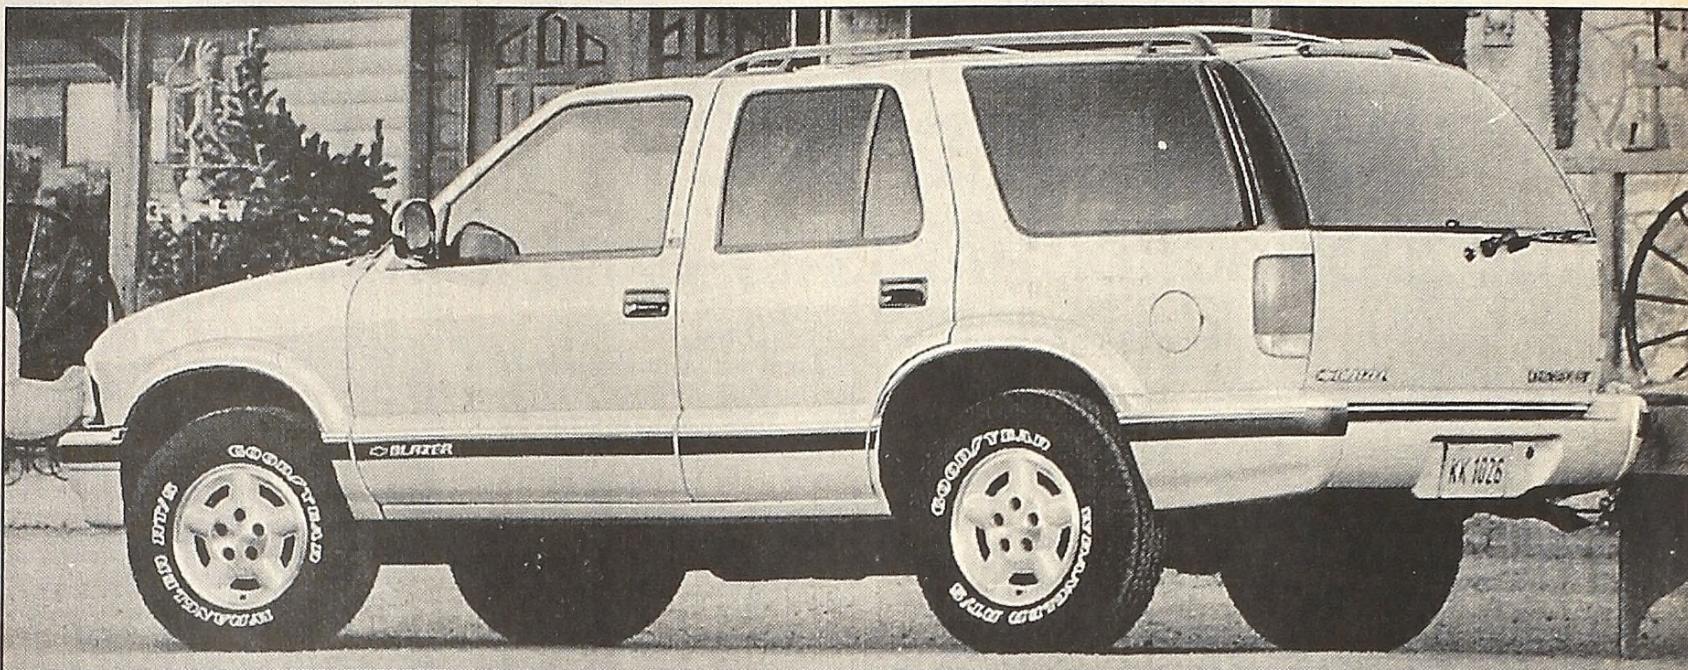

While most sport-utilities force you to choose between room for your passengers and room for your all-important stuff, the Blazer generously accommodates both. And it does it with poise, refinement, and strength.

I happened to get real lucky and received the loaded version of this wonderful automobile. It was very stylish with its black on black exterior and interior. The interior was very nice. Just open the door, and you will discover that the Blazer can be as comfortable and well appointed as a luxury sedan, with one significant difference. You're surrounded by genuinely usable space and soft leather.

In the Blazer you sit high above the road, so you have a great view of whatever is going on around you. You also get standard daytime running lamps, to make you more visible to oncoming traffic.

Other standard features include, electronic 4x4 transfer case, steel wheels with trim rings, underbody mounted spare tire to give you more cargo space (which there is plenty), power steering and brakes, independent front suspension, and full frame construction with a vast array of safety features like, drivers side air bag, four wheel anti-lock brakes, center high mounted stop light, side door guard beams, and an energy absorbing steering column.

1997 Chevy Blazer

Power everything added to this package. Mine also had a compact disc player and all leather seating. Which I might add was very stately as well as comfortable.

There were a few things however that I did not like. For instance, the gas mileage was not good at all (14 city and only 19 highway). The stereo system I expected to be better, the sound quality was not crisp or that clear. There was also a multitude of plastic on the doors and inside trim.

Why not add some more leather or some cloth? The seats being leather, why not add a touch more to the door panels and maybe to the trim? When you are spending $30,000 for sport-utility like this one, I think that you could add a splash of color and get rid of some of the plastic that seemed to adorn the interior. It detracts from the nice leather appointments in the automobile.

All and all I thought this was a great automobile, that offered comfort, style, and strength. The price was not that bad either. Pretty easy to swallow for this kind of sport-utility. Chevrolet compares it to the Jeep Grand Cherokee, Ford Explorer, Toyota 4 Runner, Nissan Pathfinder, and the Mitsubishi Montero. In my opinion, it is just like the General Motors version of the Jimmy. Not really much difference at all.

The image of the 1997 Chevrolet Blazer was upscale and sporty with the best available combination of ride and handling comfort and convenience. I thought that it was a great value. I must tell you that the Jeep Grand Cherokee was also very nice, even nicer than the Chevy Blazer.

However, for the money that you are going to pay for the Jeep,, you can get the Blazer with all the amenities of the Jeep for a much lesser price, and still have money in the bank. The Blazer is about $27,000 and the Jeep about $10,000 more. For just about the same equipment the 1997 Chevrolet Blazer is great to support active lifestyle needs with a useful and fun-to-drive multi-purpose vehicle.
